

Invitation to visit Lethabo Power Station Visitors Centre

Nicknamed the ZLED-station (Zero-Liquid-Effluent-Discharge), Lethabo burns coal with an ash content of 42% and is the only power station in the world able to burn such low-grade coal.

Situated at the border of Gauteng and Free State, the power station generates 3 708 MW (6 x 618 MW) of base-load electricity and is often referred to as the power giant of the Vaal Triangle.

Come and experience the story behind the “SWITCH”.
