

View of Site A looking in a south-easterly direction.

View of the Holfonteinspruit on Site A that must be relocated.

View of the north-western section of Site B with agricultural tunnels in the background approximately where the conveyor will enter Site B.

View of a natural spring in the north-western section of Site B that will be impacted by the development of Site B for the ADF.

View of agricultural activities on Site B, showing pivot irrigated lands in the background.

View of agricultural activities on Site B, which covers the majority of the area.

South-eastern view across Site C towards the Kusile Power Station during the wet season.

South-eastern view across Site C towards the Kusile Power Station during the dry season.

North-eastern view across Site F in the background, with the Wilge River in the foreground.

South-eastern view across site F in the middle and background, showing Kusile Power Station in the distance.

View to the north across Site G showing some agricultural activities.

View to the north across Site G.