Kom ons help ons engele

DIT is eers wanneer jy self die nood aanskou wat in ons diersorgsentrums 'n alledaagse is, dat jy besef : Ek móét help.
Daar is al hoe meer sprake dat die Diere Beskermingsverenigings (DBV) nie meer finansieel die mas kan opkom nie. Dit plaas geweldig druk op ander organisasies, soos onder andere Wet Nose.
En die rede waarom hulle daar is, is die mens self wat nie meer kans sien om na sy diervriende om te sien nie.
Steek jou hand in jou sak, dra finansieel by ... koop 'n ekstra sak kos ... besoek die sentrums en gee net 'n klein bietjie liefde aan ons diervriende. Elke bietjie help!!

Units of blood pour in on Mandela Day

The blood bank in The Avenues Shopping Centre's aim for Mandela Day was 40 units of blood.

At 1.45pm, on Friday, they had already received 28 units.

They opened at 9am, and extended working hours until 6pm that night.

According to Sister Juliana Visser, two business groups arrived during the morning and each group donated blood.

"Some are potential donors and some are already on the system," she says.

She adds one of the companies donated muffins to be handed out to all the donors on the day, as part of their 67 minutes.

Louis van Heerden from Sharon Park turned 66 on Friday and celebrated his birthday by donating his 60th unit.

He says it is an honour to donate a unit of blood for Mandela Day.

Julia Kgalema convinced her three colleagues, who all work in Brakpan, to join her in donating blood on Mandela Day.

It was Julia's third donation. Another third timer is Violanda Olivier from Geduld Extension.

She feels it is the right thing to do on Mandela Day.

Thumi Sethenya from Petersfield said that although it is the third time she is donating blood, it is the first time on Mandela Day.

She says she feels privileged knowing that she is helping others in need, specially on Mandela Day.

Motherly care for children at centre

Thobile Mlangeni

MSOGWABA - St Paul's Anglican Church mothers' union warmed the hearts of the volunteers and needy children of Ekhaya Victim Centre over the weekend.

The women presented bags of both new and secondhand clothing and blankets to keep the children warm this winter. They also played and shared jokes with them to show that despite their disadvantaged background they were still loved and cared for.

"We were deeply touched after hearing someone talking of the centre's need. "Some of us then met to discuss how we could assist, after which we decided to bring them clothes and blankets so they could be warm and be like any other children from the community," explained Ms Dorcas Magagula of the church's Lowveld Archdeaconry. The group also brought them a warm lunch which they all shared.

Magagula added that they planned to help needy children around KaNyamazane and Pienaar. "We promise to do more in future, for the present this is what we had and it came from the bottom of our hearts. We encourage people to help the centre as they have other needs, in order to help groom healthy, non-violent future leaders. Providing them with love and their needs, will also help to reduce crime and prostitution in our area," she added.

The value of caring for one another and practising little acts of generosity among families, is instilled at the women's meeting every Thursday from 14:00 to 16:00.

Ekhaya Victim Centre was formed by the community in 2010 after seeing the increasing number of orphans and needy children in the area. It aimed to provide them with a warm and loving place they could call home, as well as food and clothes. The centre currently has eight children living there permanently and five are said to be arriving soon. Most of them are referred by social workers and the Home Orphanage of White River. The centre also serves as a feeding scheme to 105 needy children of Shishila Primary and other neighbouring schools, as well as four elderly people living with disabilities in the area.

"We provide them with meals including breakfast and lunch as well as lunch boxes for their supper. Our centre operates from Monday to Saturday," explained the director, Ms Margaret Shongwe. She added that despite the fact that they received no funding from the Department of Social Services, for which they applied three years ago, they strove to make ends meet each day.

"Running a centre like this without any financial help is hard, but we depend on donations from good Samaritans, and we have seven volunteers who freely render their services. We are still hoping for departmental assistance," she said.

Shongwe added that the centre needed 10 beds, an electric stove, a geyser, food parcels - especially fresh meat and vegetables - and soap. She added that they would accept any kind of assistance as some of the children who came to the centre for their daily meals, lacked school shoes and uniforms. When it came to facilities, the centre depended on one pit latrine and needed at least four others, a dining hall and also fencing.

For more information contact Margaret Shongwe on 072-899-9437 or Mr Victor Makofane on 076-508-7779.

Women empowered to appreciate their uniqueness and true value

Thobile Mlangeni

KANYAMAZANE - Members of Deborah Women's Club were recently empowered on how to be good stewards of the Lord at an event coupled with the launch of a book titled When God Calls a Woman written by the group's founder, Ligwalagwala FM's sensational Past Portia Luthuli. The event was held at KaNyamazane Alliance Church and was attended by members from all over the province and beyond.

"We are not in a feminist gathering, but we are women with talents, who understand that together with men we are God's stewards in God's business," said Past Busisiwe Phefile.

She urged them to have a godly character which includes being pure and holy in deeds and thoughts

Phefile urged women to submit to the leadership of their rulers both at church and in the workplace, as well as at home. "If you are called by God, don't take what the constitution of South Africa says but take what the constitution of God says," she said, while urging them to make an impact on other people's lives.

Phefile urged women to discover who they are in the Lord. "You are unique and valuable and you have to handle yourself as such." She urged them to have a godly character which includes being pure and holy in deeds and thoughts, being humble, available and accessible to do good works, responsible, accommodating, composed, trustworthy and to strive for excellence. "Be imitators of God, people want to see Christ in your daily lives," she said. She described godly women as balanced, level-headed, sober, positive in life, natural, cultured and empowered in all dimensions of life.

The club has grown since its birth in 2010. It now has members from Mbombela, KaBokweni, KaNyamazane, Barberton, eMalaheni, Ermelo, Pretoria and from Swaziland's capital city, Mbabane.

"The club aims to empower women so that they can empower others. We also promote a healthy lifestyle and exercise among our members. We also conduct three book reviews in a year which cater for the needs of all our members, including the single, married, widowed and divorcees in the community," said Luthuli.

The group also hosts various activities and workshops aimed at helping their members with different skills on balancing work life and parenting, marriages, sex life, cooking skills, business skills, beauty and wellness as well as taking good care of one's spiritual growth.

Some of the members said being part of the club motivated them to further their studies, look well after themselves and to become good cooks in their homes.

FAW (First Automobile Works) vehicle assembly plant in Coega, Port Elizabeth, is good news for job creation in the country

Job creation

The production of up to 5 000 trucks at the newly launched First Automobile Works (FAW) vehicle assembly plant in Coega, Port Elizabeth, is good news for job creation in the country. Speaking before President Jacob Zuma launched the R600-million plant on Thursday, Trade and Industry Minister Dr Rob Davies, said hundreds of jobs would result from FAW operations in the Eastern Cape. Located in Zone 2 of the Coega Industrial Development Zone (IDZ), the production plant is funded jointly by China FAW Group Corporation and the China-Africa Development Fund. It is one of the largest investments made by a Chinese company in the country. "We are welcoming phase one today, which will see the production of up to 5 000 trucks in this plant creating 400 jobs. "The second phase, which is envisaged to manufacture 30 000 passenger vehicles, can increase jobs to a thousand. "We know that we can multiply those jobs if and when we start attracting the component manufacturers to come here and be part of the programme as well," he said.

Workers win on penalties

SECUNDA - Management of Bathusi Staffing Services believe in supporting the talents of its clients to encourage team building.

They hosted a soccer tournament for employees of SGB-Cape at the Lilian Ngoyi Stadium on Sunday afternoon, 20 July.

The employees divided themselves according to the colours of the kit, namely green and black.

It was a rather slow beginning with neither side venturing too far forward in their attack.

Both clubs struggled to keep possession of the ball early on and squandered possession with some poor passing.

The game sprang into life in the second half and Sifiso Zikode gave the black team the lead when he fired a shot inside the penalty area.

The green team continued to push forward and their effort was rewarded when Abel Modakana scored.

The match ended in a 1-all draw and the black team beat the green team 4-2 on penalties.

The black team won a trophy, R2 000 and gold medals and the green team received silver medals.

Embalenhle Community Development Forum have praised the company for hosting the tournament for workers. ❤️

Suspects finally granted bail after four months

'The three men have been waiting for their bail application since March due to their legal representatives not being present in court'

Magdel van den Berg

BOSCHFONTEIN - Two suspects, Mr Khaleb Ngomane (29) and Mr Sunnyboy Mbatsane (28), were granted bail on Monday July 14. They, along with Mr Wiseman Ngomane (21), face charges of murder, attempted murder and armed robbery, after they allegedly shot and killed Mr Collen Ngcana (26) and assaulted another person during an armed robbery.

Wiseman, however, was granted R500 bail on Wednesday July 9. Khaleb and Mbatsane remained in custody until their next appearance on Monday. Khaleb was granted bail of R1 000 and Mbatsane R5 000.

"They are now out on bail and will appear again on August 21," said Const Nompilo Qwabe, spokesman for the Schoemansdal police.

The three men have been waiting for their bail application since March due to their legal representatives not being present in court. "Khaleb and Sunnyboy were arrested on March 17 and Wiseman on March 20, and they have been in custody ever since," said Qwabe.

The family of the deceased has been greatly supported by the community. The community policing forum's chairman, Mr Sibusiso Makubule arranged for a support gathering at the suspects' first appearance at the local Magistrate's Court on March 17.

Alleged robbers appear in court

MALALANE - The three suspects arrested for the robbery of Sizakalani Cash Loans on Friday July 11 appeared in court again on Monday July 21. Mzamani Baloyi (40) and Sifiso Nklema (26) were granted bail of R1 500 each and the court date has been postponed to August 27.

On Monday July 14 Nomsa Qotwane (51) an employee of Sizakalani Cash Loans, was arrested and appeared in court with the two male suspects. She was granted bail of R2 500, while Baloyi and Nklema were remanded in custody until their bail was granted on Monday.

According to the SAPS, there is still one male suspect at large. "It is alleged that three male suspects entered the premises of Sizakalani pretending to look for financial assistance. Once the suspects was inside when they approached one of the employees who opened a security gate to the secure staff office. One of the men allegedly pointed a firearm at one of the staff, instructing him to move into the office where the other three employees were preparing the money to start the day's business.

"All four of them were then tied down with cable ties. The suspects proceeded to the drop-in safe and took an undisclosed amount of cash. They fled in an orange VW Polo and a silver-grey Renault Sondero," said spokesman for Malalane SAPS, Const Bheki Nkosi.

'Two vehicles and a firearm were siezed. The stolen money was also recovered. It was stashed in a refuse bag'

The robbery resulted in a high-speed chase around Malalane and Komatiport, Strydom Bloek and Coopersdal when they were cornered on a farm in a joint effort by the police, local security companies and local farmers. According to Nkosi, two suspects were cornered and apprehended, but one managed to escape. "Two vehicles and a firearm were siezed. The stolen money was also recovered.
